

Nadine Rake for re-election

Jason Boisvert

My name is Jason Boisvert, I am a Métis Father of four Indigenous Boys. I love outdoors. It is my refuge from "Real Life". I have been involved with different organizations, since my late teens, I would join trout unlimited, but just to read the newsletters. To learn, nothing more. To a membership in the Old Man Watershed Counsel, where I have got to meet amazing people Like David McCaffrey of the U of L - Geology Department. Over drinks and learned of the mis placement of Castle Park and how it protects the less vulnerable ecosystem. Now as a political and social activist and business owner. I have the ability to make a difference in my community to keep this going.

Using forward thinking like using the farmers market Facebook page as a way to sell orders for goods in this crisis. Using my business skills and logical problem solving, I hope to work with the other members of the board and community to make this a better place for our families to grow and flourish.

Bonney Castle-Dixon

I was a Board Member for an environmental organization in Calgary - Friends of Fish Creek Provincial Park Society from 2003-2005. During that time, I undertook a position on the Fundraising Committee, as well as I was a volunteered for over 10 years as a year-round Park Watch Steward. When our Executive Director resigned, I took over the ED position from 2005-2008. We organized numerous volunteer programs including a Single-Track Trail, Invasive Species, Environmental Education, Park Stewardship as well as Wildlife Monitoring programs. We were also the proud recipient of the City of Calgary 2006 Environmental Award. During my time as ED I participated in a 6-week High Skills Volunteer program offered by Volunteer Calgary. I also have a recent Certificate in Non-Profit Management from COTR.

My current position is with Kootenay Rockies Tourism where I am responsible for Finance, HR and Emergency Preparedness. I believe my administrative experience and volunteer skills will prove useful to your organization. I have volunteered for the Kimberley Farmers Market since its inception and look forward to helping out again this season (depending on COVID restrictions). I love the outdoors, when I'm not hiking or walking my dog on our local trails; I'm out taking photographs of flora and fauna. I get along well with others, thrive on finding resolutions to problems and I would like to offer my services to an organization that I share many passions with.
